$350,000 utility bill excess seen

by John Klock News Editor

SDSU may not be able to pay $350,000 of its utility bills this fiscal year, if budget projections by Ken Perry, Director of Budget and Planning, are accurate.

Although there are several possible sources of relief, the prospect of a huge difference between the money budgeted for campus utility and actual costs remains.

"In the past, the Chancellor's Office has been willing to help out with a deficit, but we've never had one of this size before," Perry said.

The shortfall comes from three projected last spring. As a result of Proposition 13, systemwide cuts took another $156,000 from the SDSU utility budget. And costs for this fall's utilities have been unexpectedly high, primarily as a result of high electricity consumption, according to Perry.

Electricity use is up about 13 percent from last fall, according to Robert Downen, campus energy coordinator.

Conservation is "probably" not an available solution. Perry and Downen said any significant steps that could be taken by physical plant probably already have been.

That leaves 25 percent of the sources. A $132,000 deficit was electricity consumption, the largest portion of the deficit, "in the hands of the individual user." according to Downen.

"They could save perhaps five or 10 percent by turning off things like light switches and plug-in space heaters, as well as vent fans in summer," Downen said.

(Downen's office had windows open, although heated air was blowing into the office. "That's how you get fresh air," he said.) . Other usual ways of meeting such deficits may also fall short. The CSUC system is strapped for funds following the Propsition 13-inspired cuts, and faces possible additional cuts.

"In past experience, the Chancellor's office has considered utilities a systemwide problem. When we made our mid-year financial status report, we estimated a surplus or deficit in utilities. If it was a deficit, they would try to identify whatever system funds can be made available." Perry ourselves if there was a problem, But the year before last we received 50 or 60 thousand from the Chancelor." Perry said.

A similar process at the campus level usually took place if a deficit was expected.

This year, finding other funds within the University may be very difficult, according to Perry.

Planners are still waiting for November's gas and electric bills to arrive, and may have to revise the predictions.

Other factors may also change the size of the estimate. For example, the size of the reimbursement from such independent users of SDSU utilities as Aztec Shops may not meet expectations.

A proposed long-term answer to "We've tried to deal with it SDSU's energy bill is an expensive "cogeneration plant" that might meet steam and electricity needs.

> But for now? "We don't really know how we'll meet this problem yet," Perry said.

AS approves loan for Day's computer

by Tina Susman News Assistant

The Associated Students voted yesterday to lend the University $100,000 for the purpose of a new computer sought by President Thomas Day for instructional pur-

According to Frank Aronoff, assistant to the vice-president for business affairs, the funds will probably be released in July or August, after private corporations have bidded on the right to install payback period, in three annual statements, the first of which would be paid approximately one year after the loan is granted.

Aronoff estimated a three-year

Aronoff stressed to Council that the new system will be "devoted only to instructional services."

Using it for this purpose, he explained, will "free" the system in use, an IBM 360/50 model, so that it may be used for aiding in the registration process, among other things.

This could result in a "totally radical change in registration,' Aronoff said.

Another recommendation from Finance Board was extensively discussed among Council members after John Gaughen (undeclared) voiced dissatisfaction with the board's Monday decision to cancel $54,703 to guarantee State reimbursed employee's salaries employed by Outdoor Recreational Services.

Previously Recreation Activice. Board had been granted the money as a "precommittal" to the state that it would be used to pay salaries in open positions. They money would fater be reimbursed.

Ed Van Ginkel, A.S. vicepresident of Finance said there is no tonger any need for this precommittal, as RAB employees are now considered employees of the A.S.

But Gaughen argued that before the budget cut was made, representatives from RAB should have been invited to comment at Finance Board.

Gaughen charged that RAB had been "violated" and said, in reaction to Council member's queries of the impact of the cut, that RAB had not had sufficient time to weight the consequences.

Marty Hall, chairman of RAB, responded that, after speaking with the area manager and advisor of Recreational Outdoor Recreational Services, he "foresees some difficulties."

Hall stressed that in order to work out the possible difficulties, a full RAR board would be needed — something that he said will not be possible over the Winter Break.

This added weight to Gaughen's motion to postone any A.S. action it until February, at which time he reasoned, RAB will have a full board and sufficient time to outline consequences of the cut.

"I'm well aware of the budgetry process, and it seems that anyone would have realized that to add an issue like this in at the end of the semester is unreasonable," Gaughen said.

Van Ginkel explained that, in order for items to be listed on the Spring budget, they must be submitted before the winter break, thus the Finance Board's action on the RAB money.

After Gaughen stressed once again that RAB needed time to analyze the cut's full impact,

Football proposed

The Intercollegiate Athlet. An morny voice ruestay night to increase ticket prices for several selections of San Diego Stadium for next year's Aztec football

The authority's recommendation will be sent to President Thomas Day for approval.

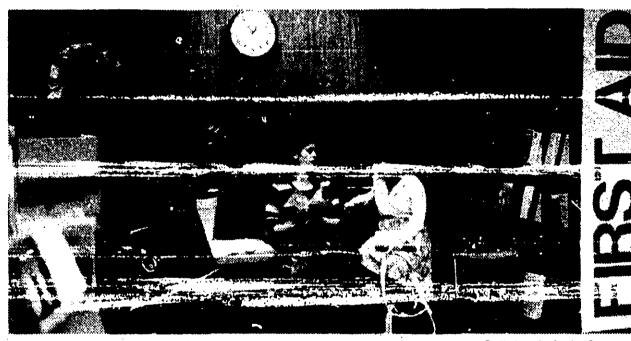

Increases are planned for the press level, general admission, plaza level and lodge level. Student section prices will not be affected, remaining at $3 per game.

Seats in the upper level of the end zone, formerly $3.50 general admission seats, will become reserved seats costing $4.50. The only general admission seats left in the stadium would be under the scoreboard in the bleachers. These would remain at $3.50.

Plaza and lodge level seats are scheduled to increase from $7 to $7.50. Sony on the tamily plan will not be affected.

Ed Van Ginkel, chairman of the authority, noted that several factors have contributed to the increased operating expenses making the price change necessary.

"The city will be billing us for the lights in the stadium," he said. adding that the city might also mandate the use of police officers at next year's games.

Flu catching on among people younger than 26

SDSU Health Services has been treating about 150 persons each day last week for what authorities believe may be the A-Russian Flu, according to Dr. George Watkins, supervisor of the acute care division.

The illness has reached epidemic proportions here and throughout San Diego County, Watkins said.

The illness was first snotted last week at Julian High School, where the absentee rate was 44 percent, according to Dr. Donald Ramras, essistant director of the San Diego Public Health Department.

Fever, sore throat, cough and aching muscles are among the symptoms. The disease usually lasts five to 10 days, and there is no medication which can shorten the illness after a person con-

Health experts believe it to be the A-Russian

Flu because of the symptoms and because it's primarily striking persons 25 and younger. The last time this type of flu hit was 26 years ago, so anyone that old may already be immune, said Ramras.

"They did isolate a few cases of it in Los Angeles," Ramras said. "It's hit in scattered pockets in the San Diego high schools. "We expect it to get worse before it gets better."

About 20 percent of the students in the San Diego Unified School District have been-reported absent this week.

No precautions short of moving to "a deserted island" can shield a person from the flu, Ramras said. Rest and aspirin can lessen the discomfort.

Injections are recommended for the older and chronically ill, but it may be too late for them to take effect, Rainras said.

SDSU health services open during break

Student Health Services will be open during the winter break.

The facility at Campanile and Hardy Avenue will operate on its regular schedule until Dec. 22 and will be open 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Dec. 26 to Jan. 12. Health Services will be closed Dec. 25 and 29 and Jan. 1 and 5.

Most services are obtainable on a walk-in basis, but birth control and some elective physical examinations may require an appointment. Some services have a small fee. For more information call 286-5281.

Also open during the winter break will be the lab, pharmacy, physical therapy and x-ray.

The special state Health Department Family Planning program continues through the break and provides free services — by appointment — for students with a limited income. Appointments with the program can be made at the second floor reception desk.

With ski season fast approaching, Outdoor Recreation Services in Aztec Center is gearing up to prepare it's stock of rental skis for the upcoming onslaught of renters.

Workers file, wax and scrape the skis to get last year's rocky slopes off. Bindings are adjusted so the skier will not come back from the slopes with a plaster after-ski boot.

Larson takes a cheap shot

Editor:

While I agree with Mark A. Larson's commentary (Dec. 13) about the vindictive actions of Lt. Gov. Dymaily, I can't see any defense for his cheap shot at a "political hack," i.e. Nixon.

Most students seem to take it for granted that Nixon is the result of a cross between Dracula and the Bride of Frankenstein.

Of course, if someone has the intelligence to check more deeply, they'll find that Nixon was relatively restrained in the use of his office compared to 1) John Kennedy, who was responsible for the Bay of Pigs fiasco and numerous assasination attempts on foreign leaders, and 2) Lyndon Johnson, who lied to congress to obtain the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution and approved wiretaps on Martin Luther King, Jr.

However, in the current climate it does take some fortitude to resist the easy, simplistic approach. Perhaps Larson felt that his criticism of "democrat" Dymally had to be tempered to be acceptable. What a waste!

More on late withdrawals

Editor:

On Nov. 26, at least 26 students were treated to more SDSU administration run-around as they lost another battle in their fight to receive late withdrawals from courses. The 26th was the last day to withdraw without further pen-

According to the catalog, in order to withdraw from a course after the add/drop date, a student must have the permission of the instructor and the department chair. Such requests will only be granted for serious and compelling reasons.

During the course of this semester, at least 26 students attempted to withdraw from courses within the College of Professional Studies. First, they discovered that the catalog policy was not being adhered to and permission to allow students to withdraw from courses had been delegated to the Assistant Dean of the CPS, as in several other colleges.

Secondly, the 26 students discovered that none of their serious and compelling reasons were good enough for the Assistant Dean of CPS, who was apparently acting on orders from Dean Mandel not to approve any late withdrawals or grant incompletes. However, students in other colleges did not suffer similar treatment.

The problem raises several concerns. First, the University thinks nothing of changing the conditions of the student's contract (the catalog) with the University. The catalog is the only guarantee students have regarding their rights.

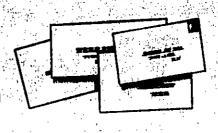

The University breached that contract on the basis that the information in the catalog can change. without notice to the students.

Second, it isn't right to enforce a policy with hypocrisy. In other words, there is no University-wide criteria used to determine what constitutes serious and compelling reasons for late withdrawals. Definitions of such apparently vary from college to college, depending on current enrollment.

It is believed that there were hundreds of students in the CPS and throughout the University who were in similar situations. Only these 26 students sought help from the Ombudsman. Now they must file a grievance against CPS or seek redress through the courts.

No matter what his rationale was. Dean Mandel and other administrators allowed a catalog policy to be broken, and, furthermore, showed little understanding for students.

The University Senate should develop a policy regarding late withdrawals: e.g., establishing criteria to determine serious and compelling reasons for late withdrawals. The "black plague" may warrant a withdrawal from Arts and Letters, but wouldn't merit an incomplete from CPS. This is a ludicrous situation and

BuckWheet takes it to Trouble for IM title

It all started the second week of September as 91 teams began their quest for an Intramural championship in men's flag football. This past weekend the number one spot was determined when Buckwheat met Trouble for the campus championship.

Both teams had been there before and they had met once before in 1976 for the Open Division Championship, where Buckwheat won that game in overtime. In 1977, "Death Wish," an offshoot of Buckwheat tripped Trouble up 20-14 in the playoffs. So, for many of the Buckwheat players and most of Trouble's team, it was the third time around. However, to the dismay of Trouble, the cliche "third time is a charm" did not prevail, but Buckwheat's dominance over Trouble in the big game still does.

Buckwheat won this year's matchup, 25-19. Trouble scored first on as quarterback Jeff Sterk ran for the initial score. Ferni Ortiz promptly led Buckwheat on a game tying drive, the touchdown coming on a pass to Randy Parks. The lead seesawed and with 90 seconds remaining in the half, Ortiz once again went to Parks for a T.D. giving Buckwheat a 19-13 lead at the half.

Buckwheat drew first blood in the second half to take a 25-13 lead. Trouble, having a hard time cracking the tough Buckwheat defense, did not get on the scoreboard again until there was only five minutes left in the game. With the score 25-19, Trouble got Buckwheat's offense stalled. But, Buckwheat's defense then decided the fate of Troubles holding them four straight downs and virtually landing the team its third campus championship.

Heads should not be hung in the Trouble camp, for they played a tough game and deserve much credit. This championship was Buckwheat's third in their last three tries and probably their last, for the team is retiring.

The Fumbling Clouseaus, SDSU's "B" league champs closed out an undefeated season by topping the dorm champs, Blimpies Best, 20-19. John Rodgers' Clouseau's cruised through the "B" league and probably had their toughest test of the season when they faced the boys from

Banuee's crowned tube kings

Tu-be or not tu-be was the question when the second annual SDSU Innertube Waterpolo Fest came and went last weekend leaving SDSU's own Banucci's topping the field of water wizards.

The polo fest was the site of tempestuous tube action by the following schools: UCSD, Palomar, Fullerton, UCI and SDSU

Out of it all the Baniccu's prevailed, defeating Fullerton, Palomar and UCSD handly and in the key goal to give the out tubing the UC Irvine troops in the finals, 8-5.

The key to the Banucci's success throughout the season and the tournament was a tough defense highlighted by Heather Paine and goalie Bob Gerhke, whose saves could have risen the Titanic.

Candi "Spider Woman" Nagel and Debbie "Freckles" Rilling led the offense from the female side with Carolyn Moore lobbing Banuci's a little breathing room over the Antesters.

However, the all-tournament player honors went to Banucci, John Whitmore whose iron arm reduced every goalie to a sorry sleve, pumping in an average of five goals a contest. For his consistently high level performance and clutch plays throughout the water polo fest, John Whitmore has been selected this week's

Wankers win in overtime

In the semi-darkness of Aztec Bowl, the FC Wankers won the Intramural soccer champsionship, by defeating a tough TKE team, 1-0, late Sunday afternoon.

The two teams had survived three rounds of playoff competition on Saturda; and Sunday, to qualify for the final match, which turned out to be quite a defensive struggle, dominated by the TKEs. The IFC champions had several good shots at scoring a goal, only to be stopped by the stout defensive play of the Wankers, 1 Regulation time ended in a 0-0 tie, and then, neighter team could push one into the net during the ten-minute overtime period, forcing a kick-off to decide the contest. The Wankers then made all five of their kicks to clinch the championship.

On Saturday morning the TKEs won the IFC championship by defeating a stubborn Sigma Pi group, 2-1, in overtime. Then to qualify for the championship game, they defeated Son A Track. al TGIS, 3-2, in another

The Wankers played the entire tournament a man short (nine players), but still managed to beat the D'Asskickers, 2-1, the Winos, 3-0, and ZIPS, 2-0, all in regulation time, to qualify to meet the TKEs. The Wankers gave up only one goal in the four tournament games, holding the opponents scoreless in their final three games.

Three of the five top-ranked tourney teams lost in the opening round when the Winos upset the top-seeded Left Over's, 1-0, in overtime; TGIS blanked secondrated Lucky II, 2-0; and ZIPS advanced ahead of the Old Timers who failed to field a team.

Aside from the TKEs exceptional showing, the biggest surprise of the two-day tournament was the play of TGIS, who came into the playoffs with a 3-1 overall record, seeded 15th. They were nudged out of the finals by the TKEs in a game-ending kick-off after an overtime period failed to rendune a enot. Parlier in tournsment play TGIS defeated Lucky II. and dropped Taj Majal, 3-1,

Buds best bests Busch

The Krazy 8's of SDSU Budweiser supersports fame proved they were truly Bud's best as they recently traveled to Cal State Northridge to represent SDSU in Budweiser College Supersports state competition and gave the other teams a little suds in their eyes as they captured the number one ticket.

The team, composed of Krazy Bob Wheelock, Brian Kenner, Mike D'Alessandro, Leslie Haskel, Dorothy McGee, Laura Sell, Lyn Barnett and Rick Monaghan, competed in volleyball, tug-ofwar, frisbee, obstacle course and 880-yard relay against such powerhouses as UCLA, Fullerton, UC Irvine, Sacramento State and 16 other schools.

SDSU's troops shone in volleyball where Captain Bob Wheelock a stairs gave the team a flawless record. Other outstanding performances came in the frisbee event where distance and accuracy were second nature to Rick Monaghan and the tug-of-war, ignited by Mike D'Alessandro, which pulled the Krazy 8's ahead of Fullerton for the championship:

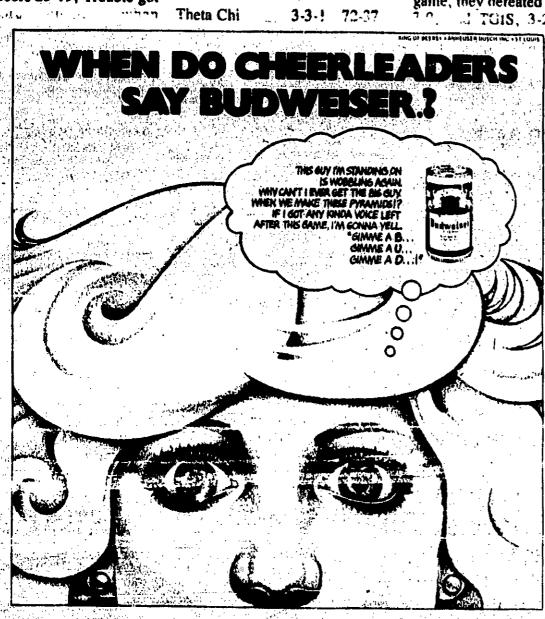

The team will next be whisked away to Tempe, Arizona to compete in the Western Regionals and hopefully be selected to represent the wild west in the national championships, to be held in the sunshine state of Florida later in the Spring.

The Ramones were one of the founders of the current punk rock movement. They emerged from the New York music scene as one of the "big four" of American new wave music, along with Patti Smith, Television and the Talking Heads.

The Ramones are the only strictly punk member of the foursome. Their music is characterms the bringau-like puiter and drilling drumbeats, accompanied by the nasal tones of singer Joey Ramone.

The Ramones rose to critical acclaim with their debut album. Their subsequent lp's, 'Leave Home," "Rocket To Russia" and "Road To Ruin" have continued to be well received.

On "Road To Ruin," their latest album, the band has relaxed their sledgehammer style somewhat, opting for a few ballads, including the 1965 Searchers hit "Needles and Pins."

Besides newcomer Marky on drums and Joey on vocals, the Ramones boast Johnny Ramone on guitar and Dee Dee Ramone on

Feliciano is Symphony's guest

Guitarist Jose Feliciano will guest star with the San Diego Symphony Orchestra for the second concert in the Celebrity Pops Series in Golden Hall. The concert is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Tuesday, Dec. 19 and the program will include a special Christmas medley and Christmas sing-along in addition to Feliciano's major hits.

In the space of a few short years, composer/ singer/guitarist Jose Feliciano has achieved an international promience few people attain in a lifetime. Feliciano, a name synonomous with music, denotes guitar artistry part Spanish and part jazz, part rock and part soul; but totally Feliciano.

Ranked as one of the top entertainers in the world, Feliciano has captivated North and South America. the Far East and Europe. Acclaimed by critics as the first "Contemporary Artist" of our time, he communicates to all audiences his superb artistry and depth of musical feeling.

Born Sept. 10, 1945, in Lares, Puerto Rico, Jose discovered music at the early age of three. From that point it has been his life. His blindness was no handicap in the development of his talent. From his first public performance at the age of nine he had progressed technically to become one of the world's greatest guitarists.

Jose's triumphs in Central and South America presaged his tremendous popularity in the United States. With the release of "Light My Fire" and "California Dreamin," Jose became a sensational concert attraction.

Lickets for the concert are now on sale at the Center Box Office, 202 "C" St. and all Select-A-Seat locations. Information may be obtained by phoning the Box Office at 236-6510.

This week, the University Administration and the Associated Students are asking students to respond to a survey of student demand for courses for the spring semester. The survey will be distributed in classes this week. Please take the time this week to answer the survey as it is the first step toward eliminating the hassles associated with registration and creating a class schedule indicative of student demand.

Pros help netters prepare for season

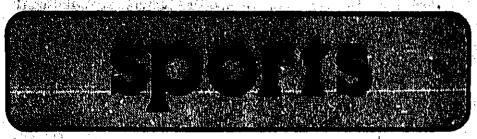

by George Francisco

Peter Davis said it best when he said, "This is the largest crowd I've seen during my four years of varsity tennis." Indeed the Aztec fans were out in force Dec. 2, when the men's tennis team went head-to-head with San Diego's top pros.

The large spectator turnout was indicative of the quality and depth of this year's team. Also helping hear about our program here and they want some tough competition."

Not only other schools have shown interest in the Aztec's team, but also some manufacturers of sporting goods. Adidas is helping provide two sets of sweats for each member of this year's team. Nike is considering providing shoes, while the team is currently trying out new rackets for Rossignol.

produce the turnout was the raffling of new rackets to spectators. New promotional ideas, such as this, hope to attract more students to this year's tennis team matches. Another possibility is the acquisition of an indoor court for the team. This would be used to play matches at night in Peterson Gym.

One certainty is that the fans witnesses high quality tennis. The Aztec tennis program has been noted as "top notch" under the efforts of Coach Redondo. Top pros, such as Chanfreau from France, have been coming out to work with the Aztec's team. Practices consist of an hour of running and exercising, and then two hours of drilling on the courts. Coach Redondo hopes to have his team in excellent shape by the season opener in January. During Christmas vacation, all members will be back after the first week to start two-a-day practices.

Previously scheduled to play 41 matches, Coach Redondo has added an additional 10 for a total of 51. His explanation was, "Everyone wants to play us. They Rossignot's tennis technical representative, Mark Allen, was at the courts on Monday with a selection of new rackets for the team to try. If a player was interested in using the rackets, he would be able to talk with Allen and set up a deal whereby Rossignol would provide them free for promotional consideration.

In the match against the All-Stars, playing well in singles were Pat Kearney, Paul Rubens, Doug Wood, Peter Davis, Todd Harvey and Gene Lachelt. Peter Davis played incredibly tough in defeating Angel Lopez, a local pro, by the score of 7-6, 7-6.

In doubles, the defending PCAA doubles champion team of Kearney-Rubens returned to top form in defeating Chanfreau-Walter Redondo 6-1, 6-4.

Also victorious in doubles were the teams of Greg Calondonia-Vali Moezzi and Pete Buntemeyer-Mark Paolucci. Buntemeyer-Paolucci came from behind with excellent serve-and-volley techniques to win 4-6, 6-3, 7-6.

Battle UCLA Saturday

Aztecs face the 'big kids'

by Jim Thomas Sports Editor

The SDSU basketball team recently won their fourth straight game to run their record to 4-1. This brings to mind a cartoon that pictured a disappointed-looking kid with a baseball bat and glove on his shoulder talking to his dad.

"How'd the game go?" his father asked.

"Not so good," the boy answered. "I had a no-hitter going until the big kids got out of school."

The cartoon resembles the Aztec's situation.

Sure, they beat USF and Toledo, but they also had easy contests with Idaho State and Wiscomin-Parkside. Now the SDSU squad must face the big kids, three top-ranked teams, in the course of a little more than a week.

First up for Coach Tim Vezie's quintet is No. 5 ranked UCLA, this Saturday night in Westwood. The Aztees then return home to meet Missouri on Thursday, Dec. 21, followed by seventh-ranked Kansas on the proceeding Saturday.

But first things first, and that means the perrenial top 10 squad from UCLA. And right now the Bruins are as fired up as mad bears, having lost to Notre Dame last Saturday on their home court. Judging from past records — the Bruins have not lost two games in a row since 1974 and have never, repeat never, lost two consecutive contests in Pauley Pavilion — the odds will be against the Aztees.

However, Coach Vezie is enthusiastic about the battle and feels that SDSU has the momentum to possibly pull an upset.

"This will be our biggest game in a long time," Vezie said, "We have confidence in ourselves and we will be very well prepared for this game."

The key to the UCLA squad is certainly All-American forward David Greenwood. The 6-foot-10 senior will enter the contest averaging 20 points and over nine rebounds per game. Greenwood is complemented nicely by a duo of excellent shooting guards in Roy Hamilton (19.8 points per game and 25 assists and Brad Holland (16.3 points and 26 assists).

"We have to stress defense," Coach Vezie said, "We have to minimize the opportunities for their good shooters to shoot."

The Aztecs will counter with an offense that isn't nearly as productive as UCLA's. Leading the way is center Steve Malovic with an average of 16.8 points and over 12 rebounds per contest.

points in the Aztee's last game against the University of Toledo and appears to have hand the touch that made him the squad's top scorer last season. The 6-foot-7 senior is currently averaging 14.8 per game.

Guard Mike Dodd is not far behind Goetz with an average of 14.0 points, but after that the scoring drop off considerably "We are improving as a team," Vezie said, "but we still are not where we want to be offensively."

The Aztecs are also lacking the board strength that is so yital to a team's success against good squads. They currently have 17 less boards than their opposition through the first five games. However, the Bruins are also suffering from this weakness, although they have only one less board than their four opponents.

Minor injuries have had something to do with this lack of rebounding, Both Dodd and forward Presnell Gilbert bruised a leg prior to the Toledo contest, making them law than full-strength

The Bruin's land.
6-foot-7 forward, has been suffering from an elbow injury and has alternated with Kiki Vandeweghe at that position.

Also alternating for the UCLA squad are centers Gig Sims (6-9) and Darrell Allums (6-9).

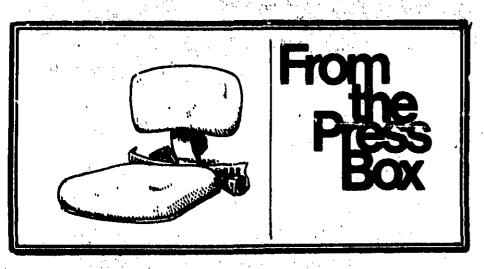

As a result of their record and the recent wins over USF and Toledo, the Aztecs are looking at a possible top 20 positions with a good game against the Bruins.

"If and when that happens," said Coach Vezie, "that will be exciting. But for now we just have to play the game."

Hoop Notes: The game will be televised live from Pauley Pavilion on KFMB-TV (Channel 8) in a simuleast with KFMB Radio at 8 p.m. Ted Leitner will do the play-by-play with Stu Lantz providing the color commentary.

The last time these two teams and MCI to a 27 51 februaries in 1976. The Polices have not unfeated the Bruins since 1940.

In statistics compiled by the Western Athletic Conference, Malovic and Goetz are in the top 10 in scoring average and Malovic is No. 1 in the rebounding department.

Wheat honored at nationals in her first full season of collegiate volleyball competition, Aztec setter Wendy Wheat has emerged as a team leader and a salient factor of a winning team.

For her masterful execution of this role, Wheat was named to the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women's All-American

"This is quite an honor," Coach Rudy Suwara said. Only 12 women at last week's inational tourney in Tuscaloosa, Ala. received the award.

Wheat, who was injured for much of last year, had the responsibility of putting the ball up in the right position for the hitters to slam and score with. She also was the play caller for the Aztecs.

"She is a very determined athlete and a fast learner," Suwara said. According to the coach, upon returning from the season's finale in Alabama, Wheat still worked out as usual on Monday.

Wheat's contribution to the team goes beyond her aggressive play. According to Suwara, she has the special ability to offer constructive and meaningful criticism to both teammates and coaches and present it in a way as to never strike anger.

Wheat, an All-CIF setter as a senior at Torrey Pines High School, had been selected to the All-Tournament team in the Women's Collegiate Tourney held here in September.

"It is good to think that she is only a sophomore and will play here two more years," Suwara said. "She works so hard and just keeps getting better."

Correction

in yesterday's edition of the Daily Aztec, the caption below the picture depicting the spiker's fifth place trophy wrongly identified Wendy Wheat as Georgie Stewart.

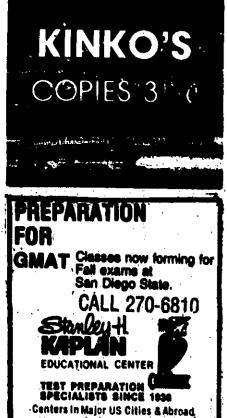

But Wheat was not the only Aztec to receive honors at the nationals. Center/blocker Cookie Elias, the Aztees main offensive force was one of 15 athletes selected to try-out for the World University Games team. The games, which are student olympics, will be played in the fall in Mexico City.

"I think Cookie deserved the All-American award also," Suwara said, "but I am happy she received this honor."

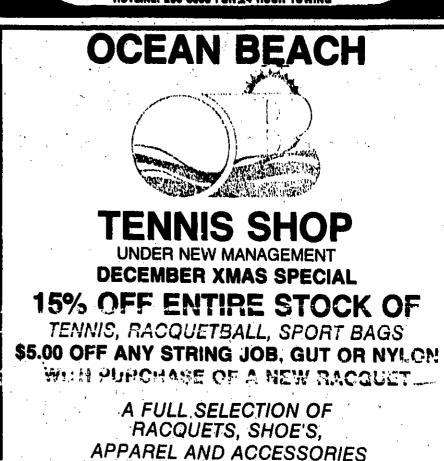

AZTEC SETTER Wendy Wheat, who was named to the All-American team following last weekend's national tourney in Alabama, sets ball as Cookie Elias readies to hit. Elias too was honored as she was selected to try-out for the University Olympic Games team.

Football trio gets post-season honors

SDSU football players Henry Williams and Don Warren have been invited to post-season college all-star games, it has been announced by Coach Claude Gilbert, Williams, an All-American defensive back, will play in three classics: the Senior Bowl (Jan. 13, Mobile, Ala.), the East-West Game (Jan. 6, Stanford Stadium), and the Blue-Gray Game (Dec. 31, Montgomery, Ala.) Warren, a tight end, has also been invited to the East-West Came, Gilbert will be the West coach for that affair.

Williams is a 5-foot-10, 190 pound cornerback from Los Angeles who has recently received the highest honor ever accorded an Aztec by being selected to the American Football Coaches Association All-American team. He was also a second team UPI All-American and an All-WAC selection. He is the first Aztec to be selected to play in the Senior Bowl, considered the top exhibition of graduating college talent, since 1975.

tight end from Covina, Ca., who led the team with 39 catches and four touchdowns. He was an honorable mention All-American on both wire service polls and a first team All-WAC player.

Aztec offensive guard Pete Inge, called "the finest college guard I've ever seen," by Gilbert, has received recognition as a second team All-American by the Associated Press.

Inge is a 6 foot, 265 pound junior from Stockton and one of the more remarkable success stories of college football.

He came to SDSU as a walk-on in 1975 but decided not to try out for the team. He reconsidered in 1976 and won a starting position the second day of practice. He has now started all 33 games of his college career and has become one of the premier offensive linemen in the country.

Inge's greatest achievements this year were winning head-up battles with two of the nation's finest defensive tackles in Mike Bell of Colorado State and Mike Warren is a 6 foot 5, 220 pound Stensrud of Iowa State.

Speaker loses friends to make money

by Chris Lawson
News Assistant

A 1977 SDSU graduate who has tripled her salary by sacrificing weekends and her social life thinks its all worth it.

In a speech made to the Communications Resource Club Monday, Julie Stewart, media director at Braniff Productions, described her no-nonsense approach to getting a job and holding it as a 'committment to herself.'

"Some of you would prefer to have the security of an eight-tofive, 40-hour a week job where someone's biggest thrill is to catch you coming in five minutes late," said Stewart. "But if you'd rather take the risk and substitute potential growth for security," suggested Stewart, "then start off in a small company."

It worked for Stewart who started out with a large corporation and found hapiness and success with Braniff.

"I made a commitment to the company," said Stewart. "It cost me a lot of weekends and friends and my social life was lost, but I tripled my salary. It was worth it."

Picking the right environment to work in is also important.

"Although it takes a hell of a lot to get fired from SDG&E, security can also mean being stagnant," according to Stewart.

"Starting off in a small company, you have a way to make a name for yourself. If your company won't allow you to advance, quit. Get out."

The club which invited Stewart to speak, Communication Resource Association, is open to all majors. It gives 'practicals' on who to talk to for jobs and is planning a tutoring program for next semester, according to Shelly Kravitz, club president.

"This club is for the students, and we're open to all suggestions if you want to hear a speaker from your major. Kravitz said.

COUNCIL: RAB 'Violation' put off

Council voted to postpone action.

In other action, Council approved an amended version of a 13-point Registration Area Policy introduced by Activities Policy Board chairman Gaughen.

The resolution in original form, would have strictly limited activities in the registration area unrelated to registration.

Specifically, the resolution quoted political, religious, and commercial solicitors; as well as on-campus organizations and voter registration as such obstructions.

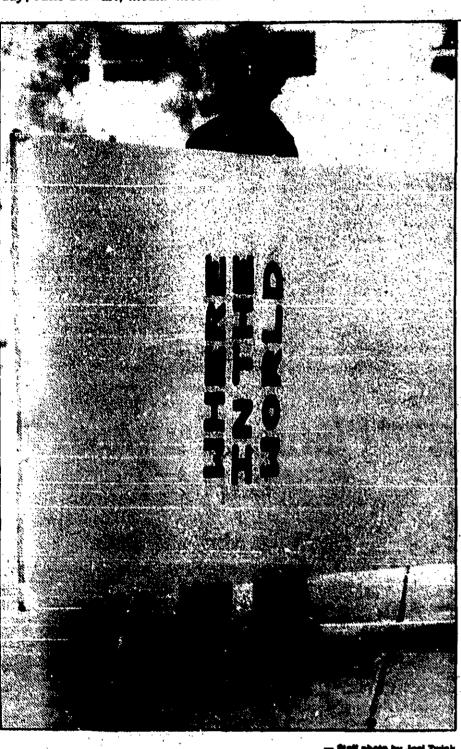

A.S. President Steve Glazer was most vecal in the hour-long debate, arguing that "voter registration is pretty American to me," against Gaughen's statements that the activity "has nothing to do with registration," and can be a bother to atudents registering.

Council voted finally to recommend to Dan Nowak, dean of student affairs, that voter registration be allowed during registration in an area not interfering with the process.

Aztec staff takes a hike (temporarily)

To give the staff a day off before finals, the Daily Aztec will not be published tomorrow. Look for a special "holiday issue" next Tuesday.

WHERE IN THE WORLD is Dan Trovillion, telecom senior, taking this 6-foot high canvas panel? From the Speech Arts building, of course. Actually the panel was used as a prop for a TV game show.
